Mission Statement

We, the community of St. James, are a prayerful and Eucharistic people who treasure our Catholic traditions. We strive to grow in our faith by being good stewards of the gifts God has given us; sharing God's truth with all. As the Body of Christ, we are called to love and serve everyone, especially the marginalized, with joy and hospitality.

Do You Know?

Despite difficulties with the mud we have finished the efis on the back (Eastern) portion of the church. The two upper windows, including the wood, will be replaced with stained glass. The ground will be graded north to south for runoff.

From the left, the first two glass panels will provide light into the Parish Hall. The third panel with a door will serve as entry to the church from the rear parking lot when the concrete walkway is completed. The fourth panel, as well as the east facing corner panel will provide natural light to a conference room.

If you have been wondering what all these windows were about, now you know. As you can see, we are progressing aggressively to complete the back side of the building.

From the Pastor's Pen

Oh why are you staring at the clouds? It's a beautiful day. The sun is shining and a light breeze is blowing. It's a great day to be out in the mid of nowhere camping and enjoying Mother Nature. But then there is a change in the wind and the sky is starting to cloud over. Will it storm or not? Is everything buttoned down so when the winds and rain hit we are not scrambling to put things away and running for cover? The radar shows a string of storms. The radio issued a thunderstorm warning, but I have no clue where or what county we are in, so I'm not sure if the storm will miss us again or we are right in its path. I guess we will just wait and see. That was last weekend as I camped with some friends in Ohio. Hopefully my hot spot is strong enough to get a signal and send this.

As I write this, next weekend we will be celebrating the Ascension of our Lord. Once again we hear the scripture, "Men of Galilee, why do you stand there staring at the sky?" They had so much to learn and so much to do. I can't even begin to imagine the awesomeness of that moment, and yet they were called to live out and share what they had experienced. Still we are called to believe and live.

There's just something about sleeping outdoors under the stars at night to give one a different perspective on things. To be under the big open sky away from city lights, to see from one horizon to the other. To feel the cool night breeze blowing across your face and breathe in the clean sweet fresh air, just hoping the rain clouds will hold off just one more beautiful day. Sitting and staring at the stars, or the clouds, and just wondering "What if....What will be???"

What will tomorrow bring? What great adventure still awaits us? What great dream will we yet dream? I'm excited. I'm refreshed. I'm ready for the next great adventure.

My prayers are with you this day.

Fr. Timothy

A from the Liturgy/Music Office

*God mounts His throne
to shouts of joy:
a blare of trumpets
for the Lord!
Psalm 47*

Reflection

The ascension is not so much about a physically present Jesus floating up and up into the clouds as it is a theologically sophisticated concept proclaiming his eternal presence with the Father in Glory. When we take this image too literally we miss the theological truth it attempts to convey. We are reminded that rising with Christ is rising to new Life, no longer to be the subject of death. Rising with Christ is rising to glory with the Father, which is much more profound than flying wingless through the sky!

Once again the psalm for today calls for all the peoples of the world to "clap your hands, / shout to God with cries of gladness." For the Lord is not Lord of Israel alone, but of "all the earth." We are also given the image "God mounts His throne to shouts of joy: a blare of trumpets for the Lord!" Today's feast of the Ascension calls for joy, even though it marks a transition from Christ's earthly ministry to his reign at the right hand of God. How do we experience the risen Lord in our lives? Can cultivate even MORE joy in this relationship?

Prayer

*You have made us witnesses
to all the earth, O God,
to announce the message:
Do not fear, for Christ is risen!
For this may we never cease to praise you.
Sing praise to God, sing praise.
Alleluia!
All people of God, sing hymns of praise.
Alleluia!*

Someone is Watching and Wondering

One consistent theme throughout the RCIA journey is an emphasis on the "sacramental principle" or becoming "sacramental people." Fr. Michael Himes suggests that the sacramental principle is the heart of the Catholic understanding of the Christian tradition. To elaborate further he states that "If something is always and everywhere the case, it must be noticed, accepted and celebrated somewhere, sometime. What is always true must be noticed as true at a particular time and in a particular place. Thus in creation, all of which is grounded in grace, those points – persons, things, places, events, and actions – which cause us to notice the presence of grace are what we speak of as sacraments." In other words, anything which exists in the universe may be a sacrament and if we truly behold what is really present, what we see and experience through our senses, rather than what we expect, hope, fear, or desire, we will in fact discover the infinite presence and power of God and His grace, thus becoming sacramental people. "The sacramental principle, [therefore,] means that God is present to human-kind and that we respond to grace through the ordinary and everyday events of life. God's spirit and human-kind work together through nature and creation, through culture and society, through our minds and bodies, hearts and souls, through our labors and efforts, creativity and generativity, in the depth of our own being and in community with others, through the events and experiences that come our way, through what we are doing and what is 'going on' around us, through everything and anything of life. Life in the world is sacramental – the medium of God's outreach and human response." (Thomas H. Groom, C21 Resources, 2012)

I think, as Christians we should all strive to become more fully sacramental people. It is my hope that each and every person who undertakes the RCIA journey will come to understand, embrace, and become beholders of God's grace in their ordinary day to day living.

Your Sister in Christ, Sandy Gagnon

Stewardship of Treasure

Jesus Sightings – I think I saw Jesus today.

He answered them, "... But you will receive power when the Holy Spirit comes upon you, and you will be my witnesses in Jerusalem, throughout Judea and Samaria, and to the ends of the earth." When he had said this, as they were looking on, he was lifted up, and a cloud took him from their sight. While they were looking intently at the sky as he was going, suddenly two men dressed in white garments stood beside them. They said, "Men of Galilee, why are you standing there looking at the sky? This Jesus who has been taken up from you into heaven will return in the same way as you have seen him going into heaven." Acts 1: 7-11

Did you make anyone feel like they had seen Jesus today? Wow – that would be great, right? Sightings of the King of Kings! That is what we are asked to do as stewards of Jesus.

As everyday stewards, I – you – we were chosen to help the world continue to see Jesus. Can we try every day to help someone meet Jesus? I am not talking about a multiplying of the loaves or changing water to wine here. I am talking about a smile; a small act of kindness; a "you count too" gesture. I am sure this feeling would come back to us multiplied, at least 7 fold. Imagine how strong we, the people of St. James would be if we brought Jesus to others today. And Every day!

Let's do it! Let's try this very day to bring CHRIST to the people we meet. We can make a difference. "I think I saw Jesus today."

As always, if you have any questions and/or concerns about any financial numbers – please feel free to contact me.

Blessings, Katie Klassen

St. James Prayer Garden To Be Visited By Judges In The America in Bloom Program

Our Unique Garden Shown On June 6

We are excited to join in the Liberty in Bloom program. Liberty is one of the cities participating in the America in Bloom program in 2019. The city will be judged against other cities in the same population range. America in Bloom envisions communities across the country as welcoming and vibrant places to live, work, and play - benefiting from colorful plants and trees; enjoying clean environments; celebrating heritage; and planting pride through volunteerism.

On June 6 and 7, the America in Bloom judges will visit many locations in our city that show our pride and vitality. Liberty has many unique places and the St James Prayer Garden where you can walk and pray the rosary in a beautiful garden setting is certainly a very unique place.

Liberty in Bloom

On June 6, our prayer garden team leaders Gretchen Lathrop and Sandy Turner will give a brief tour of the Prayer Garden for the judges.

Our prayer garden was started over 15 years ago and is funded mostly by memorials and contributions. It is maintained by a group of dedicated volunteers.

The garden's focal point is the statue of the Blessed Virgin Mary. Other features include the stepping stone rosary and the 14 stations of the Way of the Cross on the perimeter of the garden.

We invite all parishioners to visit the Prayer Garden located outside the East door of the Narthex!
Enjoy the beauty of nature and spend some time in prayer.
