From the Pastor's Pen

Thank you!!! Thank you!!! Thank you!!! What a wonderful party and a great weekend to celebrate and say my good-byes!!! Thank you to all who had a part in planning, providing food, drinks, and desserts, making Saturday night's Celebration so great and so much fun. Thank you!!!

And thank you to each of you for your good bye's, or better yet, see you later's!!! You can't get rid of me that easy. I'm like a bad penny, I keep turning up when you least expect it. Thank you to all for the beautiful, wonderful cards and gifts. I will cherish each of them for many years to come.

And now it is early Monday morning, June 24, as I write this pen. This will be my last Pastor's Pen to write, or at least my last Pen to write as Associate Pastor. A few weeks ago, Judy, our bulletin editor, and I were talking about what things will change come July 1st. Judy made the comment that now Fr. Mike will have to write a Pastor's Pen each week. Without thinking, I blurted out, "Well maybe I could continue writing and share that burden every so often." "That would be wonderful," Judy quickly said back. "I'll check with Fr. Mike and see what he thinks." "Wait!!!" I exclaimed, "I'll be writing a Pastor's Pen each week as Pastor!!!" Well, after Judy visited with Fr. Mike he thought that would be a wonderful idea and very quickly and graciously accepted my offer. So, for the next couple of months at least, I may not be there every Sunday in person to share a story or two, but I will have the chance to share in writing of my new adventures in the next chapter of my life.

Thank you Fr. Mike. You have been a wonderful Pastor, friend, mentor, and colleague in ministry. Even when I tried to play the Pastor card and get out of dealing with something or someone, your words, "Oh but you're so much better at that than I am, why don't you just take care of it," will continue to bless (and maybe haunt me) for many moons to come. Just remember, if anything technical goes wrong, I'm only a text away.

Not saying good bye, only see you later. And as Fr. Joe Nassal is often heard saying, "May we meet often in prayer."

Fr. Timothy

P.S. Several of you have asked for my new address; here it is:

Annual Mission Cooperation Appeal
We Welcome Fr. Greg Schmitt This Weekend

Fr. Greg Schmitt, C.Ss.R., a member of the Redemptorist Mission Team, is with us this weekend to speak about the Redemptorist Foreign Missions.

A from the Liturgy/Music Office

Reflection

In the gospel and the first reading following the path of God seem difficult. It demands giving up home and livelihood. Psalm 16 reminds us, however, of the delight that is found when one respond to Jesus' call. The psalmist sings, "I set the Lord ever before me...You will show me the path to life, / fullness of joy in your presence."

Seldom will modern followers find the need to answer Jesus' call by destroying the tolls of their previous profession as Elijah did, and yet the path of discipleship requires sacrifice. To follow the Lord of life we are called to give up all that does not lead to our greatest flourishing.

In our daily life, how do we encounter Jesus' call to follow him? How do we respond?

ATTENTION ST. JAMES YOUTH

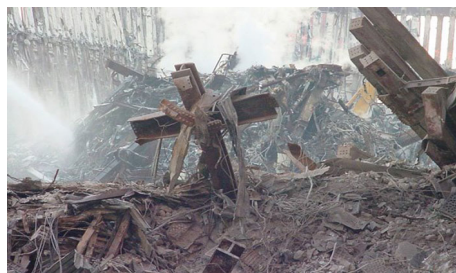

The Teen Choir is looking for singers and guitar players who are in high school to come make music with us! We lead music on the 2nd and 4th Sundays of each month for the 6:00pm Mass.

Someone is Watching and Wondering

I hope you don't mind if this week I continue on a theme I began last week: human suffering, throughout the world. Today, as we approach the July 4th Holiday, we remember the birth of our nation, the wisdom and initiative of the Founding Fathers, and the sacrifices of ordinary men and women who fought for freedom and equality. Unfortunately the Revolutionary War did not bring about an end to human suffering, violence, bigotry, and hatred nor did it insure protection for the vulnerable, lonely, forgotten and voiceless individuals who are still in our midst today. Yet this powerful image reminds me God is present and leading each of us to love and carry out His work.

Tragedy always seems to bring out the best in people as witnessed by the outpouring of assistance to those in need as a result of recent meteorological events in our country. Also like me, many of you still have vivid memories of September 11, 2001. We witnessed great tragedy but also great outpourings of love and caring. Many first-responders still suffer with terrible disease as a result of 9-11 and people of faith continue to offer help and compensation. It seems, however, that we forget ordinary people who suffer daily through no fault of their own or some as a result of a great tragedy. These faceless, nameless people want the same things in life that the colonists fought for in 1776, a safe place to live, food for their family, representation and a voice in government, education, good health, dignity, and respect. Perhaps they just need a helping hand to get started on the right path, an encouraging face to welcome them, and an opportunity to reach their full potential.

I have been very blessed in my life and able to grow through others who offered me opportunities. I hope I have been able to help others find opportunities in their lives, follow their dreams, and grow in faith and love. I offer a prayer of hope that was given to me during one of the low points in my life: "My life is but a weaving between my Lord and I. I haven't chosen the colors, He knew what they should be. For He can view the pattern upon the upper side, while I can see it only, on this, the under side. Sometimes He wove in sorrow, which did seem strange to me, but I trusted in His judgement and worked on faithfully. 'Tis He who filled the shuttle; He knows just what is best, so I have to weave in earnest and leave with Him the rest. Not till the loom is silent, and shuttles cease to fly, shall God unroll the canvas and explain the reason why. The dark threads are as needful, in the weaver's skillful hand, as the threads of gold and silver in the pattern He has planned."

Have a Happy and Safe July 4th,

Your Sister in Christ, Sandy Gagnon

Stewardship of Treasure

Transformation – why is God calling me?

Last June, I started this “stewardship” article journey. I heard good responses, so I have continued to do “food for thought” every other week since that time. I was hoping for a stronger stewardship understanding and commitment. I think not only have I learnt so much myself, but have possibly helped a few others also. Hopefully I have.

Transformation –why is God calling me? In Everyday Stewardship, Mr. Welliver states: “Stewardship must never become reduced to simply ministry fairs, commitment cards, and stewardship directories.” Well, I agree whole heartily. These are means for us to navigate through practicing our stewardship. Stewardship is the action of giving and sharing. We should always be aware of why actions are important. We hold Jesus Christ in our hearts; Every Sunday – no Every Day should be Commitment Day. We are called to respond with an AMEN from our hearts and souls. We should know and consciously remember why we are moved to do good things. GRACE – God given grace.

This week the readings, to me, are all about commitment. To receiving and sharing the grace and love of God. Why? Why should I share of my time, talent and treasure? “Because God asks me to.” Pretty simple answer when you think about it. Let's not get bogged down, make it complicated. It is really pretty simple. God ask us to. Okay – why does He ask these things of me? Mr. Welliver writes, “We are called to do these things, so that we can bear witness to the reality of the transforming power of Jesus Christ, so that others may come to follow him as well.”

That said – it is wonderful to have treasure to pay the church bills; great to have more folks to share of their own time and talent to get things done. But – and this is a big BUT – our mission, is to help lead people to heaven; to share in the kingdom. At the end of the day, that's the mission we accepted.

So every day is an important day in the life of a good steward. Help God transform all those around you. This week take a moment, make a list of 3 things God has called you to do for someone. And WHY? You are His vessel.

As always, if you have any questions and/or concerns about any financial numbers – please feel free to contact me.

Blessings, Katie Klassen

The Spiritual Exercises in Everyday Life are based on the conversion experience of St. Ignatius of Loyola, founder of the Society of Jesus (Jesuits).

The Spiritual Exercises, made in a nine-month prayer program, are a framework and a dynamic experience of spiritual growth, interior freedom, a deeper relationship with Jesus Christ and finding God in all things. The program includes praying with Scripture, journaling, and meeting weekly with a trained Ignatian prayer guide.

Join representatives from the Ignatian Spirituality Center of Kansas City, on July 10, for an overview of the Spiritual Exercises in Daily Life, hear stories and ask questions of two people who have completed the Spiritual Exercises in Everyday Life and are experienced prayer guides.

Joy: Jesus, Others, Yourself

Who Will Spread The Word?

(Gospel Luke 9:51-62)

When Jesus and his disciples are turned away from a Samaritan village, the disciples want to send down fire to punish them. Jesus rebukes them and continues on the journey. As various people approach Jesus asking to be disciples, he points out the difficult choices they will have to make if they want to follow him. "No one who puts a hand to the plow and looks back is fit for the kingdom of God."

Our faith is not just a Sunday endeavor. Being a follower of Jesus is a lifetime, 24/7 commitment. It affects what we say, what we do and how we view the world. Being a Christian is not easy.

Christians don't distinguish between "them" and "us." They believe that all people are God's children, and are worthy of respect. Christians realize that a person's worth is not determined by how pleasant he or she is or by how much he or she is liked. Christians turn the other cheek. They don't plot revenge. Christians go out of their way to help anyone who crosses their path. They see every living person as their brother or sister. They see all of creation as gift to be appreciated and protected.

The job description can sometimes seem overwhelming. That is why we can take comfort in the way Jesus responded to his disciples when they wanted to destroy the city that refused them hospitality. God is very patient with us.

God is understanding, even when we fail or act most unchristian. God only asks us to make an effort each day, to ask for help when we need it and to say we are sorry when we mess up. One of the great lessons of being a Christian is accepting the fact that we cannot control everything. We will always need God's grace to strengthen us, heal us and work through us.

"Doors to Discovery"

We use an inquiry based curriculum, where students explore and discover concepts through hands on learning. Our "Doors to Discovery" include: the Employee, Barn, Cupboard, Construction, and Garden Gate doors. As we explore behind our "Doors", children develop math, language arts, science & social studies skills. Students will also develop critical thinking & problem solving skills. At the center of our curriculum is God the Father, Christ and the Holy Spirit. Through daily prayer, Bible studies, weekly school mass, and seasonal retreats, students are taught what it truly means to "Walk Like Jesus". Students will become disciples of God's word & develop a personal relationship with the Holy Trinity. A strong Home-School connection is emphasized with ongoing communication through weekly emails and Seesaw, an online portfolio. Parents are encouraged to become a part of the classroom through weekly hands-on Parent Centers and multiple Study Trips through the school year.
